Cool Black North

2019 86 mins Second Time Around Productions Inc.

Cool Black North explores the unique and vibrant Canadian Black Community and its role in our country's contemporary identity.

Through a series of intimate profiles, we are witness to a wide spectrum of life experiences, including the arts, entertainment, law, business, science and social activism. Though each person's pathway to success is unique, they all share a common purpose and strength in overcoming often racially-based obstacles to succeed at the highest levels in their respective fields. Most importantly it's their commitment to helping others and giving back to their communities that has earned them the recognition of the Harry Jerome Awards – these incredible people paint a diverse and compelling portrait of excellence in the documentary Cool Black North.

Mr. Jane and Finch

2019 45 mins OYA Media Group

Best Writing in A Documentary: 2020 Canadian Screen Awards

Donald Brittain Award for Best Social/Political Documentary: 2020 Canadian Screen Awards

Winston LaRose, a beloved 80-year-old activist/amateur documentarian who has documented the Black community throughout the Black Diaspora for the past 60 years throws his hat into local politics and is met with unflinching systemic racism in the Canadian political system. This award-winning film gives an insider perspective of Black community activism in Canada.

This documentary follows Winston's fight for the community of Jane and Finch that ultimately highlights the lack of representation for black people and POC within the Canadian political system. This documentary shows the issue of systemic racism within the Canadian political system, the lack of representation for the marginalized and the negative generational effect colonialism has had on individuals, communities, and societies. However, this film also displays the undeniable strength of community, grassroots organizations, and the power and impact one person can have to change the world around them.

Soul on Ice: Past, Present, and Future

2015 Damon Kwame Mason

WINNER - Audience Choice: Documentary Feature - Edmonton International Film Festival

Soul On Ice: Past, Present, and Future presents and retells the virtually unknown contributions of black athletes in ice hockey. For decades, hockey was seen as a homogeneous sport - exciting to watch but played by one kind of player. Soul On Ice presents the exploits of athletes who dared to stand out, and dared to make the sport their own. At the heart of the story is Jaden Lindo, a young man chasing after his lifelong dream to play in the NHL. The film follows Jaden in the most important year of his hockey life, mirroring the journey that many other black athletes have faced to make it to the NHL.

From Watts to Watts

2019 52 min Tamara Films

Charles Burnett is an eminent figure of the Black independent movement during the sixties. His dual identity, as Afro-American and independent filmmaker, makes his work rare and valuable, revealing the shortcomings of American society, unequal and divided. A subtle and powerful storyteller, he describes the lives and dreams of Afro-American families, mixing culture and politics in his own unique way. Based on his precious testimony and those from figures of cinema or specialists, the film is a portrait of Charles Burnett, which follows him in his hometown of Los Angeles, but also tells the story of fifty years of American history scarred by the fight for civil rights. It shows how precious his work is for the young generations, as it still resonates today with movements like Black Lives Matter.

Whitewash

2016 6 min Rebels and Misfits Media

"Whitewash" examines slavery in Canada and its omission from the national narrative. The country prides itself as being the benevolent refuge where enslaved Africans who were brought to United States gained their freedom via the Underground Railroad. That powerful image overshadows the fact that slavery was legal in Canada for over 200 years under both French and British rule. "Whitewash" brings to light some of the slave families that were brought to Prince Edward Island by Loyalists and looks at how nine generations of descendants have assimilated to the point of leaving very few visible traces of their origin.

The Blind Stigma: Mental Health within the Black Community

2015 59 min Stacy-Ann Buchanan

Produced and Directed by Stacy-Ann Buchanan, The Blind Stigma is an award winning documentary that discusses mental health within the Black community. It chronicles and testifies the stories of five individuals (including Buchanan's) on their trials and triumphs with mental health. Within the Black community, mental health is deemed as a 'Swept Under the Rug' stigma that has been creating false illusions and assumptions for a long time. That stigma is the core component of the African Canadian response to mental illness, and therefore African Canadians who suffer from mental illness are less likely to seek treatment. As a result, very few studies have been done on the impact of mental illness in the Black community. The Blind Stigma powerfully removes the veil of shame that clouds the topic of mental illness in the Black community, challenges that misconception, gives a voice to Black Canadians living with mental illness and leaves the audience more informed and empowered.

The Rankin File: Legacy of a Radical

2018 90 min The Harry Rankin Film Society

"A fascinating film ... A full picture of Harry Rankin ... A marvelous chronicle of Vancouver." ~ THE COMMENTARY

Traces the life and career of Vancouver legend and outspoken socialist Harry Rankin, who in 1986 fought for the mayor's seat against a young, right-wing upstart named Gordon Campbell. Rankin's fifty-year career was marked with countless celebratory highs and devastating lows. His work ethic was legendary – not even thirty years of surveillance by the RCMP for alleged ties to the Communist Party could slow him down. Since his death over a decade ago, he has left an indelible mark not only on Vancouver's political scene, but also upon his many colleagues, family members, friends and foes. Harry's legacy is complicated and stands as a point of controversy amongst those closest to him.

Finding Peter Bryce: Story of a National Crime

2018 24 min Peter Campbell G

Dr. Peter Bryce was Ontario's first Chief of Public Health; his innovations were copied across North America. In the early 20th Century, as the medical officer with oversight responsibilities for Canada's Residential School System, Bryce identified the shortcomings of the system's response to malnutrition and tuberculosis. His reports on the epidemics and recommendations for their remedy were set aside by senior government officers and he was relieved of his duties. In 1922, Bryce published Story of a National Crime, describing the tragic consequences. The documentary Finding Peter Bryce reveals that not all settler peoples were blind to the injustice inherent in Canada's residential school system and the effects of those shortcomings. Dr. Bryce's perspective was in sharp contrast to that of civil servant Duncan Campbell Scott, whose tragic role as deputy superintendent of the Department of Indian Affairs is outlined in the film. But First Nations' children's advocate, Cindy Blackstock points out that many of us today find ourselves making similar decisions when there is pressure to conform. Each of us must choose how we respond to the challenge of reconciliation.

In the Footsteps of Our Ancestors

2020 60 min Nicholas Castel G

"This teaching is going to help educate the people, to see how we have to work together in the future for the next seven generations. It was a very powerful film. Very much so." - Perry Bellegarde, Canadian National Chief of the Assembly of First Nations

In The Footsteps Of Our Ancestors is an award-winning documentary feature and multi-layered community engagement project focused on the Canol Youth Leadership Hike: an epic wilderness trek in the homeland of the Shúhtagot'ıne (Mountain Dene). The trail follows the historic WWII CANOL pipeline route in the Sahtú Region of the Northwest Territories.

Tracing the abandoned remains of the Canol Pipeline project, one of World War II's failed energy pursuits, the diverse team of youth, elders and community guides walk in the footsteps of the Shúhtagot'ıne Mountain Dene, the Indigenous stewards of the land since time immemorial.

Faced with some of the most beautiful and unforgiving wilderness found in Canada, the team quickly understand what the realities of life in the mountains would have been like for their Sahtú Dene and Métis ancestors and the difficulties faced by the American Army in building one of the greatest constructions projects of the 20th century.

With each foot placed in front of the other, the hikers reveal an enduring message for future generations and showcase the power of youth leadership, the spirit of teamwork, and the tremendous potential we unlock inside ourselves when we are chosen by the land.

2019 23 mins LeMay Media

This production from award-winning Metis filmmaker Matt LeMay tells the story of Canada's Great River – the Kitchissippi or Ottawa River – running over 1200 kilometres from Montreal to Lake Temiskaming. The waterway was a critical highway for the Algonquin and Metis. It carried these first explorers into the interior and served as the delivery route for fur and timber. It was also critical for European settlement and migration from one area of Canada to another.

Spirit Bear and Children Make History tells the true story about how Spirit Bear and his friends stood up for First Nations children and helped make Jordan's Principle a reality. When Spirit Bear's mom tells him about an important human rights case happening in Ottawa, Ontario, he makes the LONG trip (by train, his favourite way to travel) to go and watch, and to stand up for First Nations kids. And he isn't the only one! Lots of children come too—to listen, and to show they care. Spirit Bear knows that children can change the world because he's there to see it happen. This is the story of how kids—kids just like you—made a difference... with a bit of help from some bears and other animals along the way!

3 Seconds Divorce tells Lubna's story as she reels under the effects of triple-divorce and finds her way into Bharatiya Muslim Mahila Andolan, an Indian Muslim women's group advocating for a legal ban on this type of divorce. A sharia interpretation allows Muslim men to divorce their wives by simply saying the word 'divorce' three times in one go. Commonly called triple-talaq or triple-divorce, this instant, oral divorce can only be given by men. In India, Muslim women fought and won an arduous battle to get this practice legally abolished. This is their story. Shot over three years, the documentary provides an intimate account of Lubna's struggles and gives us behind-the-scenes access to the movement that led to a ban on instant, oral, divorce in India.

An acclaimed French investigative reporter dives deep into the horrors, including brutality and rape, that Syrian women currently face in their war-torn country.

These women's stories are painful to hear. Held in basements and prisons and repeatedly raped by their captors for having committed "crimes," such as participating in peaceful demonstrations, they have nowhere to turn. If they speak about what they suffered they might lose everything. Their family, their clan and maybe even their life because they risk 'honour killings'. Nestled in a hard-to-reach, secret location, high in the alpine of British Columbia's South Peace River region is what's being called a last-ditch effort to save the local caribou herd. After decades of steep declines, they are on the brink of local extinction. Local industries like forestry and mining have taken their toll on the landscape and the caribou. Around the clock, caretakers from the West Moberly and Sauteau First Nations stand guard, keeping watch over the vulnerable animals.

Striking Balance, Season 2

2020 9 episodes x 50 min ea

Striking Balance Inc.

Striking Balance, Season 2, explores inspiring stories from nine of Canada's breathtaking UNESCO biosphere reserves, where people are overcoming daunting challenges to create a sustainable future.

Season 2 dives into cutting-edge, nature-based solutions to flooding in Manitoba, drought on Vancouver Island, and the devastating decline of the ubiquitous yellow perch in Quebec. There are unexpected stories about aggregate companies and aluminum makers learning from the mistakes of the past and imagining innovative ways to co-exist with nature. There are stories about Nova Scotia communities boldly adapting to a changing climate, and next-generation methods for sustainably controlling invasive species.

But the truly inspiring tales are the ones that prove it's possible to go beyond sustainability, to restore the lands, waters and biodiversity of these magnificent places, without excluding one of their most important native species – humans. Striking Balance, Season 2 will challenge what you think you know about the natural world, and our place in it.

Beautiful Worlds

Day after day, from eon to eon, life on Earth unfolds. The wonders of our planet are myriad. But it is only as we look out that we begin to understand what really powers our perfect blue world. The Sun is in the center of it all -- the wellspring of energy for our entire solar system, reaching out not just with gravity but energy into the space around it.

Star Cities

Our search for meaning in the universe began thousands of years ago. With only our eyes, stars and planets led us on a journey of discovery. Globular clusters, spectacular assemblies of stars, sparkle like jewels at the galaxy's edge. The smallest contain ten thousand stars, and the largest, ten million. The stars here are ancient and pure, untouched by the processes of stellar evolution. Over time, gravity has pulled these stars into a ball shape. And now they glitter in the dusk, like dandelions gone to seed.

Vaping and Viruses: Your Lungs, Your Health

2020 17 min Human Relations Media

Vaping hurts your lungs and depresses your immune system – that combo may put you at higher risk for complications from viral infections of all kinds, including Covid-19. Listen to the experts explain the problem. They are on the frontlines of the Covid-19 pandemic, and although healthy teens are at lower risk for serious infections from Covid-19, teens that vape may be at as much risk as adult cigarette smokers. Vaping compromises your lung health leaving your lungs vulnerable to pathogens. We know teen vapers experience “wet lung” syndrome where vape fluids collect in the lungs and make breathing difficult. Viruses like Covid-19 attack the lungs causing pneumonia, and then a cascade of organ failure.

2018 24 min Peter Campbell

Dr. Peter Bryce was Ontario's first Chief of Public Health; his innovations were copied across North America. In the early 20th Century, as the medical officer with oversight responsibilities for Canada's Residential School System, Bryce identified the shortcomings of the system's response to malnutrition and tuberculosis. His reports on the epidemics and recommendations for their remedy were set aside by senior government officers and he was relieved of his duties. The documentary Finding Peter Bryce reveals that not all settler peoples were blind to the injustice inherent in Canada's residential school system and the effects of those shortcomings. Dr. Bryce's perspective was in sharp contrast to that of civil servant Duncan Campbell Scott, whose tragic role as deputy superintendent of the Department of Indian Affairs is outlined in the film.

The Medical Illusion: Health Care in Crisis

2020 48 min Evotion Films

As of today, we have no cures for ALS, arthritis, diabetes, Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, most cancers and virtually all major diseases nor do we have proper and effective treatments. This compelling new film examines the deception and an outdated medical system that is still decades away from simply understanding these diseases.

The Canadian government, charities and universities continue to invest millions of tax and donor dollars in a biomedical research area that has a 95% failure rate. The Medical Illusion explores the issues and a transition to a new paradigm that is human specific; precision medicine. Available now are In-vitro, organ on a chip, 3D human printing and many other innovations, however, they are essentially being ignored. Various scientists including Dr. Thomas Hartung of John Hopkins University, Dr. Charu Chandrasekara of the University of Windsor, Nicole Kleinstreuer from the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, Troy Seidle from Humane Society International along with politicians and other professionals speak openly of the injustice happening in Canada today.

NEW for your in-class and online courses...

For your Physics and Astronomy

Students will be introduced to essential concepts of astronomy and astrophysics by way of Sky Candy, an 18-part educational video series that is guaranteed to change the student's perspective on the space around them. The video series focuses on physical observation of real objects in the universe -- planets, stars, nebulae, galaxies, etc. -- and the modern theories behind their origin and meaning. This course prioritizes creative thinking about astronomy by encouraging students to consider how we (humans) came to be, and our role in the vast cosmos.

For your Humanities Courses

ONE MAN'S RACE FOR CHANGE.

Long-standing community activist and amateur documentarian, Winston LaRose has dedicated the last 25 years to supporting the troubled community of Jane and Finch; with gentrification high up on the political agenda, the man affectionately named as Mr. Jane and Finch, decides to challenge the traditional powers for the city councillor seat of ward 7.

See pages 4 for more information.

For your Indigenous Studies Courses

This film exposes the health crisis facing the Indigenous community in Canada through the stories of three Indigenous women. These women who survived the residential school system in Canada take viewers through an emotional journey of abuse and trauma and exposes viewers to the negative effects of these experiences on their health. The women's stories, intertwined with community leaders and medical experts, accounts and sheds light on possible methods that will bring healing to a suffering community.
